

Abstract of the Disclosure

A sign system that is suitable for temporary use. A plurality of frame assemblies are provided which are secured at a desired site. A banner bearing a predetermined image to be displayed is securable to a number of frame assemblies and is erectable to a display position with respect to the frame assemblies. The system may be secured at an outside or inside site for temporary use for an event.